Generations OF LOVE

STUDENT AND FACULTY STORIES...

My heart hurts! Mr. Harris was one of THE BEST. He had such a bright smile and always made you feel so smart even on some of your dumbest days! And that yard stick, well what can you say...He definitely left some wonderful memories in my heart. Thank you, Mr. Harris for being a part of my life! Rest in peace sweet man, your work is done on earth.

He used to sit behind me when I was taking one of his tests and start drawing on my arm and I said "what are you doing, Mr. Harris?" He said, "oh just tracing the dots, dear" (I have freckles). Another time he was standing in the middle of the hall during class change and he stopped me and said "you can dress to get warm, but you can't dress to get cold" Mr. Harris was THE BEST teacher I have ever had!!! So many more memories! He's missed and prayers for the family.

Every class with him was entertaining and that is why he was loved by so many. I remember him erasing words from the board because he mistakenly thought it was misspelled. He blamed it on dyslexia. Whenever he needed to concentrate, he would stare off into the distance and wave his finger around in the air above his shoulder as if making computations. I'm certain every one of his students has similar anecdotes about Mr. Harris. He was one of the greats! My heart hurts for his family.

Silas Harris was a wonderful teacher and a good friend to all of us who knew him. It was my privilege to serve on the faculty of West Iredell when he was there. I send my love and condolences to his family.

He was a wonderful man and teacher. I didn't like history classes until I had his. A great, compelling storyteller with a way to bring you into the moment to make the lessons very satisfying. Writing with his right hand while simultaneously erasing with his left. What a brilliant man. I will always cherish my memories of him.

Sad for his passing, I wanted to be in his class, he brought things so I could learn, full of spirit, remember him telling an older student for 10 dollars that he could break a yardstick over his head and not hurt him, student agreed after he showed his 10 dollars, then Mr. Harris takes yardstick over, stood close to him, lifts yardstick, snaps it over his head, takes his money, then tells him to do his homework, he was a class act, great dude.

Some of my best memories of high school was in the classroom of Mr. Harris....wishing my boys had experienced just one day in his classroom....his was kind, fun and all over the place some days...unforgettable! Prayers for the family! Fly high Mr. Harris!

Mr. Harris was the smartest man I have ever had the pleasure of meeting and he is the reason why I decided not to quit high school in 10th grade. He told me that I was brilliant and if I applied myself, I can achieve anything. I loved him not only as a teacher but as an amazing friend. I will never forget Mr. Harris and he, in my book, will go down as the greatest teacher that West Iredell ever employed.

Not only did I learn from him as a high school student, he allowed me to come back and observe and spend time as a college student prior to my student teaching and learn from him as a prospective teacher!!! I have tried to inspire my students the way he inspired me.

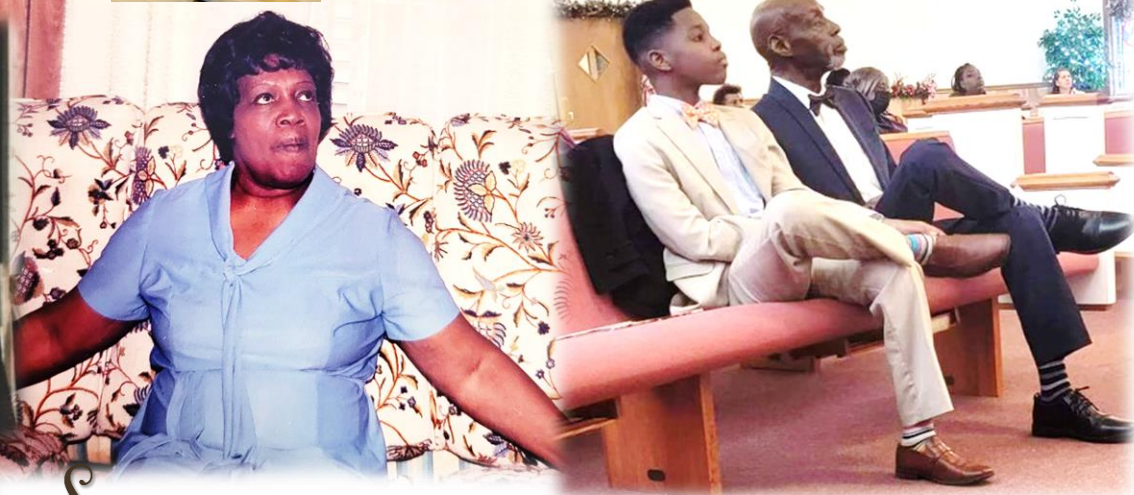

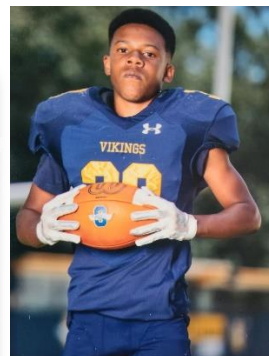

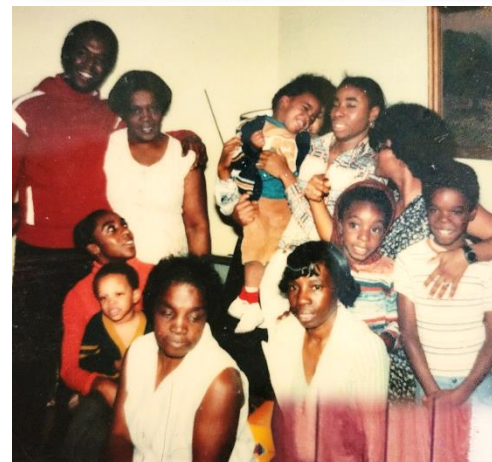

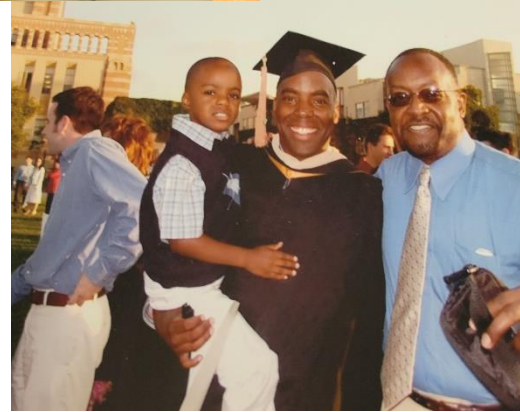

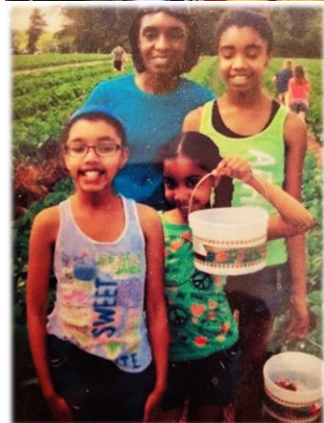

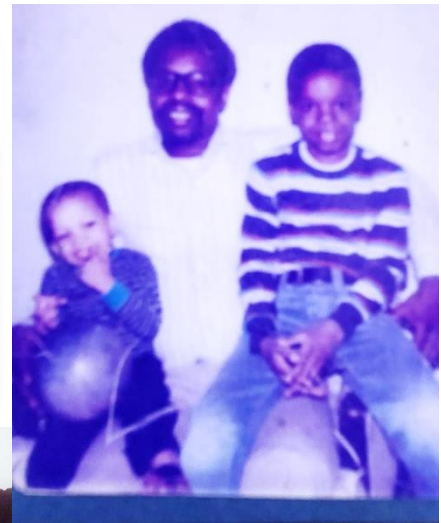

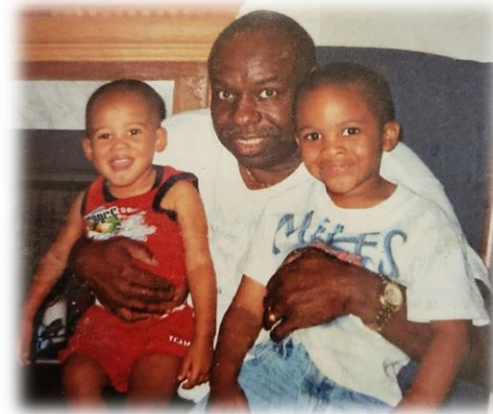

Amazing man and teacher. I had no interest in history until I had him for a teacher then I couldn't get enough. He will truly be missed. We lost a great teacher.

He will always be one of my favs!!! When he would write like that on the board, we would say Mr. Harris...he said, "man you know what it's supposed to say!" Lol. Such a great guy!

*In tears we saw you sinking, and watched you fade away
Our hearts were almost broken, because we wanted you to stay
But when we saw you sleeping, so peacefully and free from pain
How could we wish you back with us, to suffer that again.
It breaks our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone
For part of us went with you, the day God called you home.
Lovingly submitted,
The Family*
